HOW TO CULTIVATE,
LEAD AND MANAGE A
HIGH-PERFORMING TEAM

Brian A.M. Green

Lets get started!

WHAT MAKES A HIGH-PERFORMING TEAM?

Brian A.M. Green

A HIGH-PERFORMING TEAM
IS A GROUP OF SKILLED
INDIVIDUALS WHO WORK
TOWARD A COMMON GOAL
AND EXCEL AT WHAT THEY DO

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

01

Individual success is great in a team but, while still highly sought-after, can't compete with a high-performing team.

02

Putting together individuals with diverse skills isn't enough to build a high-performing team.

03

What you see on paper for each team member won't translate perfectly to their ability to collaborate effectively.

Fail Example

COLIN FARRELL, ANGELINA JOLIE,
VAL KILMER, JARED LETO
ANTHONY HOPKINS

Brian A.W. Green

A gold spoon and a gold fork are positioned on a dark, textured background. The spoon is on the left, and the fork is on the right. A vertical gold bar is on the left side of the image, and a light blue rectangular box is in the center-right.

CHARACTERISTICS
OF A HIGH
PERFORMING TEAM

Brian A.W. Green

CLEAR EXPECTATIONS AND VISION

- Having specific objectives and defined expectations enables teams to focus their efforts on a shared goal.
- These transparent goals should be on both an individual and a team level. The group has clear objectives, but all sub-objectives for each team member are also defined.
- These goals should align with the company's overall vision.
- This enables teams to better execute their objectives and brings them closer to the organization and its culture

COMMITMENT AND MOTIVATION

- High-performing teams show a strong motivation to get the work done. They're driven, willing, and committed to their goals.
- high-performing teams are strongly committed to seeing projects through, take responsibility for their role, and strive to achieve the best possible outcomes.

A SUPPORTIVE ENVIRONMENT

- When you pit your team against each other - everyone loses
- A high-performing team is fueled by mutual respect and recognition among team members
- Strong Leaders know that true success comes from collaboration and a strong respect for each other's contributions.
- Building Trust Within the Team
- Empowering Team Members

This means celebrating each other's wins and helping each other overcome failure

---

DIVERSITY WINS!

- A great team can not be made up of copy-and-pasting the same person over and over again.
- A diverse range of perspectives, backgrounds, and opinions increases team creativity, opening their minds to new ideas and improving their problem-solving skills.
- Diversity makes a team thrive and succeed.

CLEAR COMMUNICATION

- Having specific objectives and defined expectations enables teams to focus their efforts on a shared goal.
- These transparent goals should be on both an individual and a team level. The group has clear objectives, but all sub-objectives for each team member are also defined.
- These goals should align with the company's overall vision.
- This enables teams to better execute their objectives and brings them closer to the organization and its culture

CREATE ENVIRONMENT OF CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

- Environment of continuous improvement means the team is never “done” getting better and they know you are investing in their improvement
- Creating an environment where teams are excited to seek learning and development opportunities knowing they will be supported - NACE Experience
- It creates a team that becomes open to feedback

COLLABORATION AND WORKING WELL TOGETHER

- A team does not work together organically. You have to create the foundations for that to happen.
- When teammates understand how others work, they all work better together
- You need to pay extra attention to how each other works and how best you can complement them.
- With enough practice, any team can synchronize in impressive ways.

OUTSTANDING LEADERSHIP

- A team can't be high-performing without a great leader
- Great leadership drives a team forward and inspires better performance.

Skills like conflict resolution, motivation, task delegation, and communication can make a good leader into an outstanding leader.

HOW TO BUILD A HIGH-PERFORMING TEAM

USE PERSONALITY & SKILLS-BASED HIRING TO BUILD THE PERFECT TEAM WITHOUT BIAS

Focusing on candidate personality and skills over certifications enables you to build a team based on capability

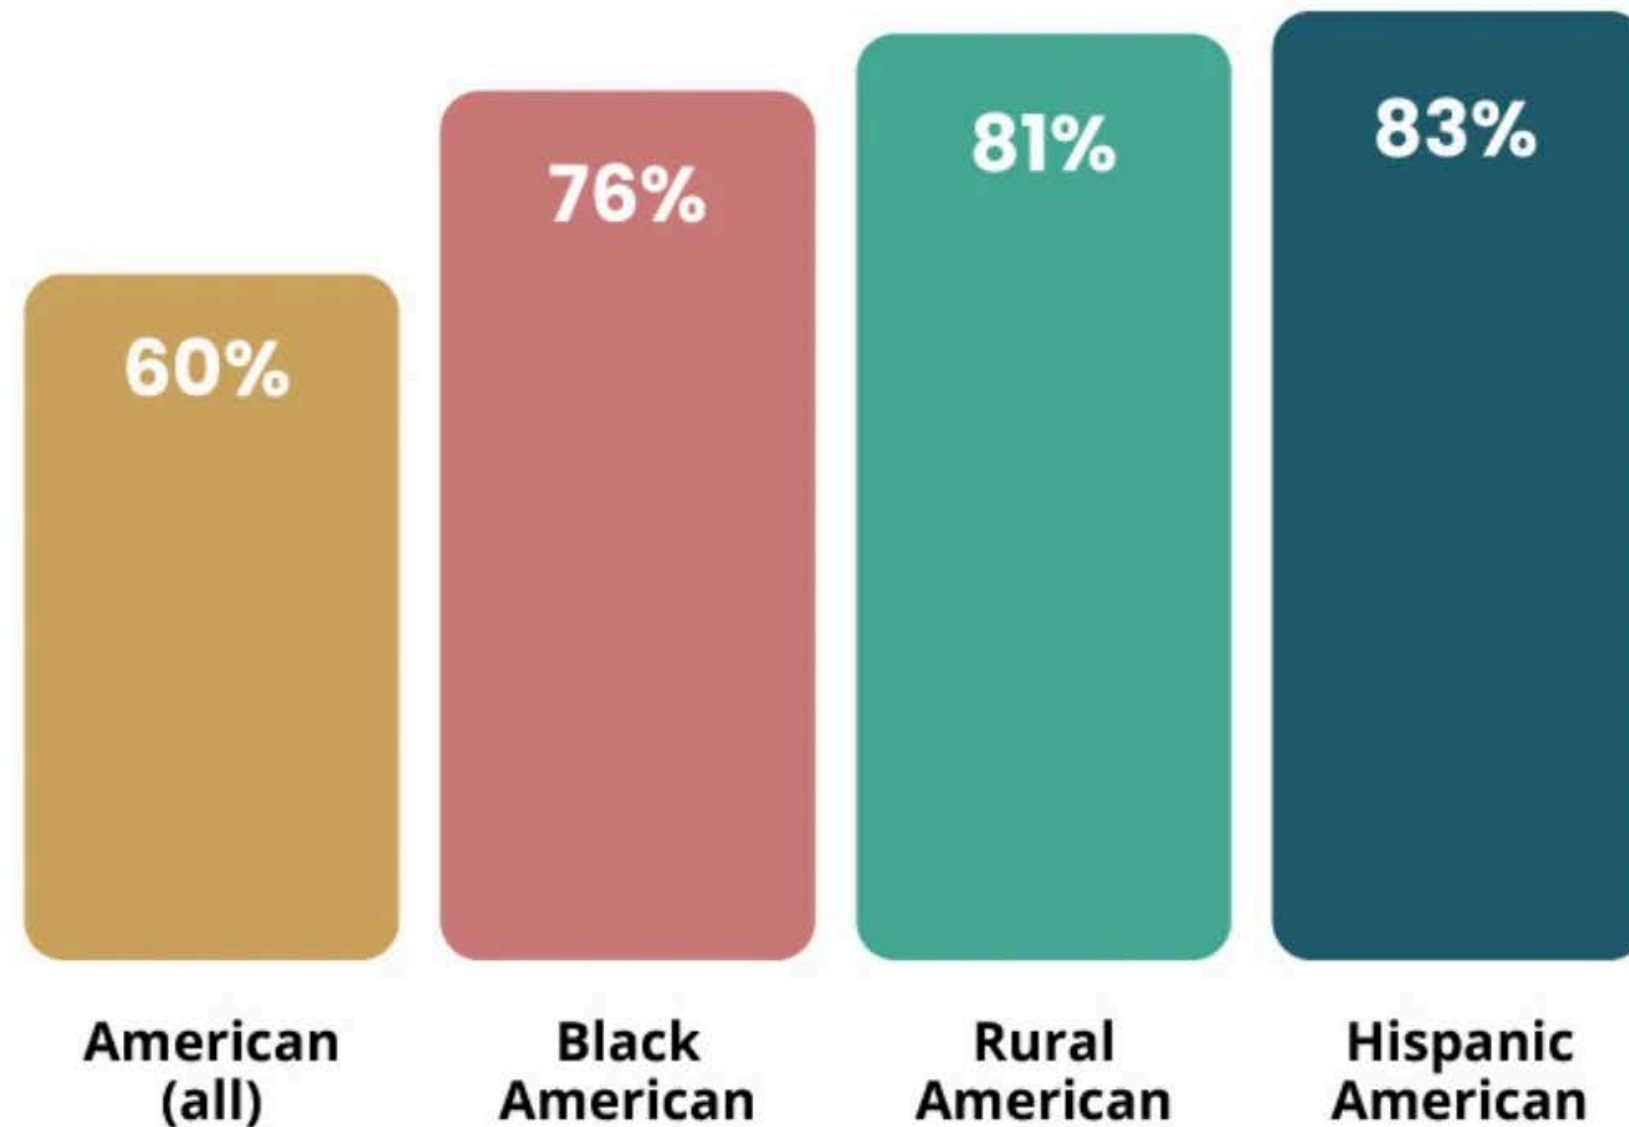

Certifications and strict job requirements exclude millions of capable candidates.

This means you can find team members who not only fulfill their role responsibilities but also complement one another.

SET CLEAR GOALS & ROLES

STEP

Your team needs clear goals, roles, and responsibilities to maintain focus and put effort into a common goal.

STEP

Clear, shared goals streamline a team's performance and enable them to produce consistent, excellent quality.

STEP

Hiring for culture creates a common ground of values and motivation for your team

GIVE YOUR TEAM AUTONOMY

No one likes to be micromanaged.

Autonomy not only boosts efficiency, it also increases trust, self-confidence, and performance.

Four tips to increase autonomy in your team:

- Empower your team to make decisions
- Resist the urge to micromanage and helicopter
- Provide support and help only where needed
- Give employees the tools they need
- Encourage flexible policies, such as offering flexible work hours

When employees have independence, they feel like their contributions matter and that they have a stake in the company's success.
