Sample email for your supervisor

Dear

I know how much our organization benefits because of the talented individuals who work here. One of the ways I believe we can continue to find solutions and grow my skills is through industry education.

Attending the Experience Conference for Catering and Events in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, will provide:

- experiential learning, where I can engage in the creative process of catering and events as well as understand the foundations on which the industry operates
- networking opportunities with industry leaders and colleagues from around the country
- educational sessions that are facilitated by industry experts who have faced similar successes and challenges and directly relate to my job
- learning opportunities at food functions – new trends in décor and food and beverage – that I can bring back to benefit our company immediately
- the opportunity to meet with current and potential clients and others doing the same job as me in different markets
- access to the entire list of attendees via the conference app or future networking and marketing opportunities

I am requesting your approval for conference registration, travel, and related event expenses. I have included an estimated cost breakdown below:
